REGINA, Nov. 25.

North-West council proceedings closed on Saturday night, 19th inst. Twenty-five ordinances new or amended were passed. The herd ordinance was strangled and the whole of the afternoon session was passed discussing the liquor question amid several very exciting scenes. Turriff, leader of the temperance party, was badly beaten on every division. Haultain's resolution declaring the present territorial liquor law unsatisfactory, asking that the North-West council or legislature be given the same power to deal with the liquor question as the legislatures of the provinces, that clauses 92 to 100 of the North-West act be repealed, that the Canada temperance act be applied to the territories and voted on by the people living in the districts of Assiniboia, Alberta and Saskatchewan, was finally passed.

Haultain's motion providing an additional member for Lethbridge evoked strong opposition from Jelly and others but was passed.

Wilson's motion relating to the office of lieutenant-governor which was on the notice book during the whole session was never made; it is supposed because he could not get sufficient support to carry out his views.

A preliminary temperance convention was held here on Thursday. Counter liquor resolutions to those of the North-West council were passed and the lieutenant-governor was asked to curtail the issue of permits. Perley, M. P., was specially thanked for his services in the house of commons. The permanent organization instituted is to be known as the North-West prohibitory alliance.

Messrs. Davin, Mowat and Bule are at Ottawa regarding Regina public buildings, experimental farm, etc. Evidently a gobble up game.

THE election of two trustees to fill the vacancies in the board of the Edmonton school district took place on Saturday afternoon last in the school house. The meeting was organized at 2 p. m., M. McCauley chairman of the board as chairman of the meeting and C. F. Strang, secretary of the board, as secretary. J. Cameron was nominated by A. D. Osborne and Jas. McDonald, D. Ross by J. Peacock and A. Taylor, P. G. Gray by J. F. Smith and W. R. Lloyd, J. A. McDougall by J. A. Petrie and Jas. McDonald, Jas. Goodridge by J. Looby and Chas. Stewart. A poll was demanded by A. D. Osborne and Jas. McDonald, and C. F. Strang was appointed returning officer. When the poll closed at four o'clock the vote stood as follows: D. Ross, 32; P. G. Gray, 30; J. Cameron, 24; J. A. McDougall, 6; Jas. Goodridge, 6. As the board is at present constituted and under the present ordinance M. McCauley is chairman and will hold office until Nov. 1890, D. Ross until Nov. 1889, and P. G. Gray until Nov. 1888.

D. McLeod broke through the ice on the river below the lower mill on Wednesday while examining the condition of the ice with a view to crossing freight. A man was pouring water on the ice to strengthen the weak places. Mr. McLeod stood on one of these places before the water newly poured on was frozen, when the ice was of course weaker than before, and broke through. He had on a large fur coat which caught on the ice and prevented his going down. He got out without much difficulty.

The Lethbridge News thinks that if the North-West breweries are closed down "it will be a severe blow to many North-West towns in which as in the case of Lethbridge those engaged in the manufacture and sale of this beverage form no inconsiderable part of the population." The News positively should not talk such rot.

The farm has 90 acres under cultivation, has been worked since 1877 and never had a crop failure during that time. Last season 60 acres were summer followed and the remaining 30 yielded 1,030 bushels of grain.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, NOV. 26, 1887.

The Regina Leader speaking around responsible government for the Territories says: "There is no analogy between the North-West and any other province." Then why did the Leader man introduce in last session of the federal parliament a bill to give the North-West a local government precisely similar to that of the other provinces?

The Montreal Star remarks that when the United States bought Alaska for $7,000,000 many of the people cried "folly," and asks "What would the United States take for the vast mineral wealth stored in the Yukon country?" As Canada, not the United States, owns all the vast mineral wealth yet discovered in the Yukon country it is not much odds what the latter would take for it.

The Norquay government is in trouble. Not, strange to say, over the R. R. V. R. matter but over the H. B. R. It will be remembered that last fall, just before the provincial elections, with a great flourish of trumpets, Hugh Sutherland let the contract of building 40 miles of this road to Mann & Holt and the work was done, more or less satisfactorily. A liberal land grant was given by the federal government towards the road and the provincial government agreed to advance provincial bonds worth their face, taking the land as security. These bonds to the amount of $250,000 were to be accepted by the contractors either as part payment of the contract price or as collateral. Sutherland never came up with his part of the agreement and Mann & Holt are suing for possession of the road. In the progress of the suit it appears that the provincial bonds mentioned were advanced directly to Mann & Holt by the provincial government before the land grant upon which they were supposed to be issued had been earned. The work was slighted to such an extent that the federal government refused to hand over the land grant and the provincial government has now neither the bonds or the land, and is not likely to get either. A charge is made that the provincial bonds were advanced to Mann & Holt so irregularly on condition of a percentage going into the pockets of members of the government. This remains to be proved. In the meantime E. P. Leacock draws a large salary from the provincial government for administering this land of which the federal government still holds full possession. It is thought that even Manitoba people will refuse to stand these developments, and that Norquay's political career is about ended.

If anything were required to show that the Norquay government and contractors Ryan and Holt were parties to a plot to swamp the Red River Valley railway scheme the fact that now, when there is no possibility of any work being done this fall, although the judges have granted an injunction to prevent its being proceeded with, Ryan is willing to accept the provincial bonds which Norquay asserted he could not sell at any price in part payment of the money they have paid out for work done, and Holt has come to an agreement with the citizens of Winnipeg to complete the work—in the spring. If the bonds are good to Ryan & Haney now, why were they not good when those contractors stopped work, and if to Ryan & Haney why not to other moneyed men, Holt included? When the Norquay government and Holt refused to submit their contract for a legal opinion in order to secure the advance of funds from the city of Winnipeg they showed either that the document would not stand legal scrutiny or that they did not want the money and did not want to complete the work. Unfortunately the Manitoba opposition have not worked up for themselves a reputation for the highest form of disinterested patriotism, and therefore the people may be excused for hesitating to entrust the management of this important matter to their hands. But whatever the opposition may be or may do the events of the past summer prove conclusively that if the people of the province are ever to secure government in their own interests the first step must be to get rid of Norquay. In all human probability the North-West lieutenant governor and Indian commissioners are being kept warm by the present incumbent until the coming session of the Manitoba legislature shows whether Mr. Norquay will require them or not. The dirty work that he must have done during the past summer proves conclusively his more than fitness for the positions even as the successor of so highly talented an individual as at present holds them.

COMPROMISE NOTHING!

Since the Mail fell from grace the Hamilton Spectator has divided with the Montreal Gazette and London Free Press the honor of being chief organ of the government party in federal politics. It does not enjoy the prestige of being semi-official as does the Gazette but it has the prestige of being probably the most widely circulated and certainly the most ably edited government organ in the leading province of Canada. For certain purposes it has an advantage over the Gazette. A statement in the editorial columns of the Spectator will be read and believed by as many as one in the columns of the Gazette, and at the same time cannot in future embarrass the ministry as a Gazette article might. If buncombe threats or false promises are considered necessary the Spectator's columns are the channel by which they can be laid most effectively before the public with least prejudice to the government. While the Gazette's business is to apologize for the actions of the government that of the Spectator is to raise such a cloud of dust that its readers will be unable to detect what the government has really done, and especially what it proposes doing. It is scarcely necessary to say that the actions of the government might be such as to be their own justification—such as would be to its advantage to publish rather than conceal. That they are not of this character the course of the Gazette and Spectator respectively is ample proof. As to the papers themselves, their business being to apologize for or to conceal facts, their general course rather than their separate statements form the best indication of the nature of those facts. The Spectator appears to have been allotted the task during the past summer of fighting the Red River Valley agitation. To do this, misrepresentations of the grossest character were resorted to, threats most dire were made, the credit of the province of Manitoba and of the city of Winnipeg were cried down, the North-West was declared to be a C. P. R. preserve, every mean, contemptible and cowardly suggestion that a mean, contemptible and cowardly mind could conceive was made to induce the people of Eastern Canada to believe that their prosperity depended on the North-West being held in bondage; and all this under sham pretensions of loyalty, of patriotism, with crocodile tears for the disloyalty, the unpatriotism of those who in Manitoba demanded the rights that their fathers had fought to secure for them as Canadians without regard to whether they lived in the west or the east. The logic upon which the Spectator founds its loyalty runs thus; Canada means Eastern Canada, because the bulk of the people reside there; Eastern Canada means the present administration because the majority of the people support it; and the administration means the C. P. R. company because it belongs to that company; therefore loyalty to the C. P. R. means loyalty to Canada, and anything that conflicts with the wishes of the C. P. R. means disloyalty to Canada—the people of Canada and more particularly of the North-West live, move and have their being in and for the benefit only of the C. P. R. company. Whether owing to the Spectator's convincing logic and able efforts or not the agitation for competing railways for the North-West has been a failure for this season. The hopes of the people and the prospects of the country which rose so high for a few months have been dashed to the ground. The immigration which already was beginning last fall on the mere prospect of railway development can only be expected to continue to seek rival fields, where, whatever the failings of the people or faults of the country, there are neither papers nor politicians who will enlarge on the one or mis-state the other to prevent railway development. The government cannot afford to win another victory such as this. The insolence of wealth and political power have reached a limit beyond which they fear to go. In its latest and most labored effort on the subject the Spectator while still threatening Winnipeg holds out the offer of a compromise, and concludes "Let us have peace." Peace would no doubt be very acceptable, provided it were peace with honor, but no compromise that will acknowledge an insolent corporation as in any degree the arbiter of the destinies of the North-West should be listened to for an instant. The people of Winnipeg, of Manitoba, of the whole North-West have nothing to lose and everything to gain by continuing the struggle not only till they have achieved a compromise but until they have secured their full rights. In any case they would be worse than fools to slacken their hands on account of any threat or offer made by or through the Spectator. The fact that any threat or offer is made through such a medium is fair evidence that it is only intended to deceive.

When the inter-provincial conference pronounced on the subject of commercial union it was going out of its way to interfere in a strictly national matter as far as the federal government has lately gone out of its way in the disallowance of local acts to interfere in strictly provincial matters. It may seem remarkable that a cautious, not to say crafty, old politician like Mr. Mowat could have been induced to take a position on such a ticklish question when he did not need to, but an examination of the resolution shows that after all "there ain't nothin' to it." The resolution declared mildly for "a fair measure providing, under proper conditions, for unrestricted reciprocal trade relations between Canada and the United States." Unrestricted trade is all right, it is the conditions necessarily attached to the carrying on of that trade which make it impossible for Canadians having a due regard to their own interests to accept it. Make the conditions right and the trade is all right. For instance if the United States would agree to universal free trade Canada could afford to accept commercial union. But Canada cannot afford to have its tariff arranged by the men whose exactions have bred the Knights of Labor and the anarchists in their own country; and as this is the sole condition upon which commercial union is offered it cannot be accepted.

COUNCIL NOTES.

Medicine Hat petitioned for a license system.

Slight amendments have been made to the ordinance regarding the legal profession.

The sheriff's ordinance provides that his office shall be kept open from 10 to 16 o'clock.

A Souris settler wanted a grant of $400 to put out a fire in a burning coal seam that was doing great damage.

The lieutenant-governor introduced a bill to regulate the fees of counsel, advocates, clerks, etc., under the Judicature act.

Geo. Parks of Moosomin was appointed to the vacant shrievalty of Eastern Assiniboia pending an appointment by the government.

The prairie fires ordinance provides that a person may kindle a fire in the presence of six persons armed with proper appliances to prevent its spread.

Sutherland-Cayley moved a resolution favoring the ballot system in future North-West local legislature and parliamentary elections. Carried.

In the discussion on the bill respecting fees of counsel in appeals etc. Turriff Haultain moved that the fees be reduced 50 per cent. The reduction was not agreed to.

A return showed that the printing of the ordinances of 1887 in French cost $350. Those of '84, '85 and '86 are being translated at a cost of $1,000 and their printing will cost as much more.

Ross-Wilson moved a committee comprising the elected members of the council to draft a resolution recommending a future constitution for the Territories. Reed was added to the committee.

The lieutenant-governor laid on the table information concerning the population of Eastern Assiniboia. He explained that this was part of a census which it was proposed to take and which it had not been thought advisable to continue.

An ordinance provides that any person causing or allowing any polluting matter, such as manure or dead carcasses to be deposited within fifty feet of any running stream shall be liable to a fine of $5, or in default to imprisonment for one month.

The ordinance respecting chattel mortgages provides that should any mortgaged property be removed out of one judicial district into another if the mortgage is not filed in the second district within three weeks the property may be sold and the mortgage have no validity.

Amendments to the municipal ordinance provide for a property qualification of $500 to vote on a by-law. Town councils can invest their sinking fund for the redemption of debentures in school debentures. Money may be borrowed repayable in annual instalments. Councils shall consist of a mayor and six councillors.

The lieutenant-governor's bill to tax incorporated companies was defeated by six to five. He said that the total revenue of the Territories was $15,527. Permits brought in $4,329. This it was proposed to discontinue. Billiard licenses brought as much more, and these it was proposed to hand over to the municipalities. If they desired responsible government they must have funds and he introduced this bill as one means of raising them.

The school bill provides for the appointment of a board of education having five Protestant and three Roman Catholic members appointed by the lieutenant-governor-in-council for two years or until their successors are appointed. The board is to meet twice a year, the members to be paid $4 a day while in session and travelling and other expenses besides, the board to appoint its chairman and the lieutenant-governor in council to appoint a secretary. A member's absence for six months will cause the forfeiture of his seat. A discussion took place as to whether the joint board or the separate sections should fix the qualifications of teachers. Rouleau desired separate grading. Dewdney, Reed, Jelly and Haultain thought the grading should be done by the joint board. A conclusion was not reached on the point at last accounts.

In the debate on the adoption of the resolutions respecting scrip to half-breeds, the first clause was held over on resolution of Dewdney. Regarding the second clause Mr. Dewdney said that "In passing this memorial we would be buoying up the half-breeds with false hopes." Ross said the position the council should take was this—if the half-breeds had through any disability not got their rights, we should see that disability was removed. If they came under the same influence as the whites who had to be helped they should be helped, but they should not be pampered. The half-breeds of Edmonton doubtless did not know the law and had not gone to Manitoba to file their claims. The committee adjourned on motion of Richardson, an amendment by Ross being lost. At a subsequent sitting clauses one and two of the memorial as amended by Ross were passed, and further proceedings in the matter were postponed on motion of Dewdney. Ross objected to the adjournment and referred to the unsatisfactory manner in which the matter was dealt with last year.

A petition from Calgary recited (1) That the non-enforcement of the prohibitory law in the North-West is a source of great evil. (2) That permits are held by saloon keepers and others who use them to evade the law. (3) That the petitioners believe that if permits were withheld from Calgary it would be possible for the officials to enforce the law. (4) That large numbers of people who came to Calgary to free themselves from liquor found it as accessible there as where licenses exist, and (5) That the refusal of permits would improve the moral standing of Calgary and surrounding country. Two hundred names were attached to the petition including that of the mayor of Calgary and of many ladies. The petition was the cause of considerable humorous discussion and some laughter, and does not appear to have been received.

An informal meeting of the committee to propose a form of government for the Territories at which Messrs. Turriff, Wilson, Sutherland, Cayley, Lauder, Jelly, Crawford, Cunningham, Bedford and Reed were present was held. Dr. Wilson wanted responsible government. Cayley wanted data, Turriff ditto. Reed submitted a partially matured scheme of providing for the appointment of three elected members to control the funds and visit the capital periodically to transact public business. Sutherland wanted some more responsible system than at present. Bedford moved for a special committee to obtain data of the cost of government in the provinces. If the new system would increase taxation he would oppose it. Crawford wanted complete representation. Turriff and Cayley were appointed a committee to procure data. At a subsequent meeting data were submitted. Ross and Wilson supported responsible government regardless of cost. Several schemes were proposed but nothing definite was accomplished.

POLICE MATTERS.

EDITOR BULLETIN.

In reading the last report of the commissioner of police lately I find that he says his plan of paying all accounts and letting all contracts from Regina works well. He may think so, but if he would visit the North-West mounted police posts he would have reason to change his mind. As a sample case I will tell you how he let the beef contract for Edmonton and Ft. Saskatchewan for the current year. Tenders were called for in April to be sent to Ottawa, with a marked cheque good for ten per cent. of the total amount tendered for. I tendered for the supply of beef and forwarded my tender and cheque to Ottawa on the 14th of May by registered letter. No notice was taken of my tender, but other tenders were called for on the same contract in July to be put in at Ft. Saskatchewan, the divisional headquarters for this district. I put in another tender, in compliance with the terms of the advertisement, and was notified that mine was the only one. No notice was given me that my tender would not be accepted; but its terms were made public and an offer accepted from another party two days after the tenders were opened. I thought that the least the department could do was to send my deposit money back from Ottawa, so I wrote requesting that it be sent forthwith. I got it on the 14th of September, having been deprived of the use of the money for four months, a loss to me on the amount, $783, at 2 per cent. a month, the interest demanded by the banks here, of $80. If there was any considerable saving made by the department there might be some excuse for such proceedings but the offer that was accepted was only half a cent a pound less than the tender I sent to Ottawa for Edmonton. This is the plan he says works well. And this is only one case. All the other contracts were let in a similar manner. In fact the telegraphing alone must have cost more than was saved by this unjust, dishonourable way of doing business.

The commissioner also says that the settler will have to learn to sell as cheap to the mounted police as to ordinary individuals. His money is just as good as any other if given in the same way. But if settlers have to pay two per cent. to get their vouchers cashed—as they have—or send them to Regina and wait from one to four months for their cheques, it will take him a long time to teach them to sell as cheap to the police as to others who pay the cash. As long as he manages police business as at present he cannot reasonably expect to buy from settlers as cheaply as a party paying cash.

There was a time when the police force was an honor to the Canadian government and the settlers had all confidence in them. When they contracted a debt they gave a cheque and that cheque was as good as Dominion bills. But things have changed. Now there is no confidence placed in the force. For instance in case of horses being stolen not one man out of ten would go near the police. If they could get their horses back, all right! If not, let them go! Three horses have been stolen here and no notice was given the police simply because it was believed to be of no use. I will give an instance of my own. Some time in July '86

I had a horse and saddle stolen on Saturday. On Sunday I got out a warrant and placed it in the hands of the police, telling them the whereabouts of the thief. It was three days before any move was made to arrest him, and in the meantime he stole another horse and saddle from Narcisse Beaudry. He kept both horses, lived in close proximity to Edmonton and stole goods from several settlers for nearly three months, and as far as I know no effort was made to arrest him until some of us got ready and went to look for him. The police came along with us, but we were too late. He had gone to Peace Hills, about forty or fifty miles south, riding one horse and leading the other. The Indians there knew the horses were stolen, took them from the thief, George Ke-se-ka-wa-sis, and brought them to the Indian farm at Peace Hills. Word was sent to me and also to Major Griesbach. He sent for me and asked me if I was going for my horse. I told him I would ask Mr. Lucas, Indian agent, to send him in, I paying all expenses. There were no police sent out as far as I have heard, and at any rate the horses were stolen back, taken south and have not been seen since. As for the thief, he broke the laws across the line and was soon arrested. In view of these facts there is no cause for surprise at a want of confidence in the police.

As for the men in the force here they are as good as ever wore the red coat; the fault is in the government of the force. They seem not able to move without telegraphing the commissioner. A great deal might be said in regard to the out-of-the-way, ridiculous, location of the barracks for this district, and the number of prisoners that have escaped within the last two years, and of the patrols as marked on the map and referred to in the commissioner's report, but space will not permit.

Mack Howe, late of Winnipeg now of St. Paul, was wanted in the former place for perjury. He failed to appear, letting in his bondsmen.

A return states that in 1882 1,266 murders were committed in the States. Ninety-three murderers were executed by law and 118 lynched, 211 in all; so that in all probability 1,000 murderers escaped punishment.

C. J. Cameron, prominent at the time of Wm. McDougall being appointed governor of Manitoba and afterwards on the boundary commission is likely to succeed Gen. Middleton in the command of the Canadian militia.

The Battleford Herald objects to the appointment of Senator Schultz as lieutenant-governor of Manitoba. It wants to know what he has ever done to deserve the position, beyond moving a few useless resolutions in the house of commons and the senate.

The Illustrated London News, American edition, of Nov. 5th contains engravings of the late Mrs. Crick author of John Halifax, Gentleman, the late Lady Brassey and her yacht the Sunbeam. Also sketches in London, Plymouth, Ireland, France, Bulgaria, Algeria, Burmah, India and elsewhere.

C. J. Christie of Calgary went looking for mica on the north fork of Sheep creek lately accompanied by T. B. Lafferty and R. W. Clark. D troop of police now in Kootenay, B. C., has lost four members by death and three by desertion since crossing the mountains. The deaths were Sgt. Major Lake, suicide, and Constables Lazaby, Mason and Fisher by fever. Corporal Harrison and Constables Ratcliff and Callender deserted. There had been two falls of snow before Nov. 1st and on that date the river was running ice.

The Battleford Herald calls attention to the fact that the fines paid by members of the mounted police force on account of breaches of discipline etc. are supposed to form a fund for the establishment of libraries and recreation rooms and the payment of rewards for meritorious services. The Herald wants to know why no instances of payment on account of such service has occurred or at least been made public.

The regulations for the disposal of surrendered Indian lands appearing in a late issue of the Canada Gazette provides that not less than one quarter section and not more than one whole section shall be sold to any one purchaser. Not less than one-fifth of the purchase money shall be paid at date of sale and the balance must be paid in equal annual instalments with six per cent interest from date of sale to date of payment. Actual settlement on the property must commence within six months from the day of sale and continue for three years, during which time five acres for each hundred purchased must be fenced and brought under cultivation and a dwelling not less than 18 x 24 erected on the property. Timber must not be cut for sale until after issue of patent, except under license. Violations of the conditions of sale render the lands and moneys paid forfeitable. These regulations will not apply to lands in respect to which the superintendent-general of Indian affairs shall have been satisfied by the report of an inspector duly appointed, that they are in whole or for the most part unfit for cultivation. Such lands may be disposed of by the superintendent-general to the best possible advantage. In all probability these regulations will apply to the Two Hills reserve opposite Edmonton, recently vacated by the Indians. There are many very desirable locations on this tract, both for farming and hay cutting. The regulations do not fix the purchase price.

BELLA SUTHERLAND, Teacher.

November 7th, '87.

THE financial standing of the Edmonton school district as shown by the statement appearing in last week's issue is something to be proud of. It is probably the best showing of any school district in the North-West, and indicates that while people here are not willing to incur unnecessary obligations they are willing to discharge what they do incur and are able to do it easily. Some fault has been found that the balance on hand is so large. It may be larger than is absolutely necessary but it must be remembered that there are the liabilities for the six months now coming to be met out of that balance. The next assessment cannot be made until February and it will be about the first of May before much can be realized from new taxes. The taxpayers have three courses open to them. 1st, Levy sufficient taxes to meet all liabilities until the taxes of the following year can be collected. 2nd, Levy short of the amount necessary and borrow the balance until new taxes come in, or 3rd, Instead of borrowing give creditors a stand off. That the first plan is the most economical and in every way the best must be apparent to every one. If there has been an error during the year it has been on the right side. At the same time money is worth money in this country and if the people pay their taxes before the money is actually needed in order to avoid the payment of interest by the district it would only be fair that the funds thus necessarily on hand should be made to draw the highest rate of interest circumstances will allow, having due regard to security.

NORTH has yet been heard of the closing of the hop beer breweries here. The Calgary Tribune says such an act would be an outrage and would cause people in the North-West to send their money away to procure the stuff from outside. If that is true it shows that the North-West is badly in need of the services of the fool killer. A man who would send any distance for hop beer when he might just as well send for something better (or at least pleasanter) is too much of a fool for this glorious climate.

A Montreal fur house quotes prices current on Nov. 1st: Beaver, western, large skins, $6, medium $4, small $3, or $1.50 to $3.00 a pound for fall beaver and $3 to $4 a pound for spring beaver. Black bear $15 to $20; brown bear $7 to $11; fisher $6 to $8; red fox $1.00 to $1.50; cross fox, dark, $8; fair, $6; pale $3.50; silver fox, dark, $60; fair, $40; pale, $25; lynx, $2.50 to $3.00; martin, $1 to $1.55; mink, 40c to 60c; muskrats, 12c to 14c; otter, $4 to $7; skunk 75c to $1.20; wolverine, dark, $5, brown, $4, pale, $2.

The amount of assessable property in Battleford Protestant school district last year was $144,499. Taxes collected $1,055. Total disbursements $1,134.
